petition, as the assignment of the 371c date is believed to have occurred due to a miss-categorization by the USPTO.

This Application was filed on and correctly awarded a filing date of December 7th, 2001; however, the USPTO subsequently and inappropriately assigned a 371c date as explained herein. On February 19th, 2003, the filing date or 371c date of this application was assigned by the USPTO to be February 19th, 2003. Per a conversation with the Examiner on Friday July 14th, by Applicants' Attorney's office, the Examiner stated that this date corresponds to a 371c date incorrectly assigned to this Application. Examiner further stated that a 371c date is one that is assigned to a PCT application when it enters the national stage, and since this has not happened in the instant case assignment of a 371c date is respectfully noted as being improper.

Accordingly, Applicants agree with the Examiner that this date was incorrectly added to the Application and petition for the removal of this date. This date has been incorrectly applied because this Application does not correspond to a PCT application; rather it is a US filed non-provisional application. Accordingly, Applicants respectfully request removal of the 371c date and noting of the original filing date of December 7th 2001 as the only effective filing date.

Respectfully submitted,

Dated:

July 24, 2006
